

14 Sept 81

Domitian was formally invested with imperial office by the senate.

Domitian was an able administrator. Whatever his shortcomings as a person he did not neglect the welfare of the empire. He tried to raise standards of public morality. He forbade castration of males, and punished senators who practiced homosexuality.

as Pontifex maximus he condemned to death
four of the six Vestal Virgins; three for incest, and a fourth, the Chief Vestal Cornelia, for entertaining a whole string of lovers. The first three were allowed to choose the manner of their death and their lovers were exiled. Cornelia was buried alive, while her lovers were beaten to death in the forum.

Domitian upset the Senate by ignoring them. Domitians autocratic style of government, ~~and~~ was underlined by his adoption of titles 'dومenies et deus'
'Lord & God'.

81-96

Domitian was Empar.

Titus ruled only until
A.D. 81. (The actual cause of his death is disputed)

A.D. 81

General Flavius Silva Nonius
Bassus was made Consul ORDINARIUS in A.D. 81. It is possible he was subject to damnatio
memoriae, since his name
was removed from a monument
in Judaea presumably before his death (date unknown)

A.D. 81

Domitian succeeded Tiberius as Emperor and ruled until A.D. 96

No fewer than ten men of consular rank were put to death on various petty charges by Domitian. General Flavius Silva was not on the list.
